Friday, November 27. 1724.

Petersburg, November 4.

ADAMIRAL Wilder is gone on Crocodile, and it is believed that he will command the Fleet in Chief next Year. Colonel P. is now set out the 25th inst. to return to Warsaw, without having had Audience of his Imperial Majesty. Deputies are sent here from Archangel, to complain of new Duties laid upon their Merchandises, who after having had Audience of the Emperour, were referred to the Board of Trade, which had Orders to examine that Affair.

Vienna, Nov. 15. All the Endeavours that have been used to procure a Truce between the Porte and the Island of Malta, have prov'd fruitless, so that in all Appearance the War will be continued between them more vigorously than ever. The 9th and 10th of this Month the Emperour assisted at a Privy Council, where they made a Report to him of what Discoveries have been made concerning the Treaty between the Courts of France, Spain, and Russia. Advices from Poland intimate, that notwithstanding the utmost Efforts used by the Primate, and his Brother the Marshal of the Dyets, to procure the Welfare of the Kingdom, and to bring Affairs to a happy Conclusion, according to the King's Intentions, it seems that they are thwarted by the Intrigues of some foreign Ministers. According to the last Letters from Rome, Sig. del Giudice will be sent hither to relieve Sig. Grimaldo in his Nunciature, but only as Nuncio in Ordinary.

Hamburg, Nov. 21. Some Days ago several Imperial Officers and Jockies arrived here with Commission to buy up 2000 Holstein and Danish Horses for recruiting of the Imperial Cavalry. Yesterday arrived here a Russian Captain, who was brought to Lubeck by one of the Czar's Frigates, he has Orders to take along with him from hence Lieutenant General Staff, to whom the Russian Agent has Orders to pay 2000 Ducats to hasten his Equipage and Journey to Petersbourg. Our new Commandant Major General Alfsen, who is now at Stralsund, is expected here every Day to take Possession of his Post. M. Negelin, the Duke of Holstein's Private Secretary and Counsellour of Finances, came hither some Days ago, to negotiate certain Sums of Money for his Master, in order to remit them forthwith to Petersbourg. They write from Vienna, that the Emperour has resolved, that seeing the Duke of Mecklenbourg is no wife inclined to submit himself to the Imperial Mandates, and that on the other hand the young Duke Christian Ludewick is unwilling to charge himself with the Regency, the Imperial Commission at Rostock should have the Name of the Regency pro interim. It is whispered, that the Elector Palatine solicits the Court of Rome for a Dispensation for his Brother the Bishop of Aurburg to Marry and succeed him in his Electorate; which it is said the Pontiff will not be averse to, in order to disappoint the King of Prussia in his Pretensions upon several of the Elector's Dominions.

Brussels, Nov. 23. The great Council of this City gave last Night its Consent to the Continuation of the Tax upon the four chief Sorts of Provisions, viz. Wine, Beer, Meat, and Flower, which is renewed every six Months. The Emperour has declared M. Swayers, whose Father was formerly Director of the Mint at Antwerp, Chief Director of the Mints of the Austrian Netherlands. As they are now about to coin new Money, the Chamber of the Accounts of Brabant has sent Circular Letters to all the Officers of the Mints, injoining them to be present here about the End of next Month, to deliberate about the Quality of the Species that are to be coined. The Imperial Officers who have received Money to raise Recruits in Germany, had been gone from hence before this Time, if the Places they were design'd for had not been changed, but they will set out speedily. There are six Officers of each Regiment appointed for those Recruits, viz. two Captains, two Lieutenants, and two Ensigns. Last Saturday, when the Marquis de Prié entered into his 69th Year, his Excellency received Compliments on that Occasion: In the Evening, the said Marquis, with his Family, and several Persons of Distinction, were entertained by the Prince de la Tour and Taxis with a splendid Repast and a Ball. This Day M. Peters, Resident of the States-General, gave likewise a magnificent Treat to the said Marquis and his Family.

Paris, Nov. 25. 'Tis affixed, that the Duke of Richelieu will not for our next Month upon his Embassy for Vienna, as it was reported, and that his Departure is put off to the Beginning of next Spring. The Marshal d'Allegre being extremely distressed with the Depuries of Brittany, has taken upon him to intercede the King on their Part to grant Leave to some Gentlemen of that Province, who have been exiled for several Years past, or who retired into Spain, to return Home. The Glass Works of Picardy and Normandy having left off making Glass, the Lieutenant General of the Police has, by Order of the Court, sent the Comptrolly, Robert and some others to those Places, to oblige those Gentlemen to continue their Works, because Glass is become very scarce in this Town of late. The Inhabitants of the Parishes situated within nine Leagues of the Borders of Champagne, Burgundy, and Bresse, are forbidden to plant any Tobacco, or to keep any Magazines of it, either in Powder or Lead. The Great Master of Malta has named the Chevalier de Camilly, Brother to the Archbishop of Lyons, to be his Plenipotentiary at the Congress of Cambray, whether he is to go immediately, and Mr. Balthazar Sadour from Malta here, has got a Brief from the Pope, which gives him Leave to name who he will be of the Benefices that depend on his Commandries.

London, Nov. 27, 1724.

The Poll stood thus last Night.

Sir Richard Hopkins, ——— 3006

Mr. Goodfellow, ——— 1491

The Advertisement in the Papers, and otherwise handed about Yesterday, giving an Account of the Certain Appearance of 4000 Liverymen before Saturday at One a Clock for Mr. Goodfellow, is a flagrant Proof, that a Set of Men will not stick to assert any Falshood. And it would be an Affront to the Citizens to take any further Notice of what may be advanced from that Quarter relating to this Election.

SIR, London, Nov. 27, 1724.

In witness whereunto all unerrantable Declarations, as well as a Majority on the Poll, and the sound Practice of just Polling,

Your Poll and Interest are desired for

SIR RICHARD HOPKINS, Kt. Alderman and Turkey Merchant, and Cutler,

Who is zealously affected to his most Excellent Majesty King GEORGE, his Illustrious Family, and our most happy Constitution in Church and State, a steady Assertor of the real Rights and Privileges of his Fellow-Citizens, a Promoter of the Trade and Welfare of this City, and a great Exporter of our Manufactures.

This Gentleman had the Majority of Hands in the Common-Hall, and was accordingly declared by the Sheriff.

N.B. A Set of Men, having no other Reflection to make, But that Sir Richard Hopkins has the Care of the Citizens Interests and Properties, as a Director of the South-Sea Company, is a Party that they did not remember. That Mr. Goodfellow was of the Russia Company. And then it may be fit for the Citizens to think, Whether greater Care ought not to be taken of their Interests and Properties in the South-Sea Company, than that of the Russia Company.

If Sir Richard Hopkins had taken up his Freedom of a Company, to serve a Purpose, he would no Doubt have been published as a Deserving Gentleman, and a Stranger to the Rights of the Citizens.

Neither Sir Richard Hopkins, nor his Friends, would have descended to make these Remarks, if the poor Injurments in the Bill handed about for Mr. Goodfellow, did not make it necessary. And it could not well be imagined that they should so soon receive ungrateful Returns for their late Service to Mr. Thomas Jackson, Brother to Mr. Goodfellow, in his Election to the Office of Town-Clerk.

Note, The Poll begins again this Morning, at Eight of the Clock, and continues till Three in the Afternoon.
